

Collaboration & Remote Working with Microsoft 365

More than any time before, businesses all around the world transform once again to boost collaboration and remote working. During the Covid-19 world crisis, all industries discovered the importance of being future-proof, by having prepared the necessary solutions for their workforce to be always connected, anytime, anywhere.

Let's have a look at USA for example:

More than 50% of workers work remotely (full-time or a few times a week).

62% Remote workers
38% On-site workers

Source: State of Remote Work 2019, Owl Labs*

What has that got to do with anything?

Remote working, apart from the obvious productivity boost, increases employee happiness and reduces stress, among other things.

And a fun fact, those are things that remote and on-site workers agree on!

83% of survey respondents agree that the ability to work remotely make them happier

Remote workers 84%

On-site workers 81%

Source: State of Remote Work 2019, Owl Labs*

80% of all survey respondents agreed that the ability to work remotely would make them less stressed

Remote workers 81%

On-site workers 79%

Source: State of Remote Work 2019, Owl Labs*

To bring such power over one's business, a careful choice of a complete platform that truly empowers employees is needed.

Enter Microsoft 365.

All Microsoft solutions are made equal, in that they all work through any device. It is a reality that employees use more than 1 devices, some personal and some provided by work. Hence, the need for mobile-friendly versions that offer the same ease and performance of their desktop counterparts.

Office apps, OneDrive, SharePoint and Teams are all available for different device types, that can all be added on and used by workers, boosting productivity and breaking location barriers. This way, your team can keep being on-the-go or remotely work from anywhere.

In addition to the powerful Office apps that boost productivity and allow workers to generate quality files with easy and fast, Microsoft 365 includes some services especially tuned for boosting collaboration.

Emails and calendaring

The one-stop solutions for business-class email and calendaring. Exchange skyrockets collaboration by adapting to employees' communication, prioritizing important messages and offering an intelligent inbox with top-tier security and smart search enhancements. Add to that a calendar which updates itself and captures events from emails and you got the perfect tool to manage emails and calendar.

File management and sharing

Leave behind your USB sticks and hard drives. OneDrive is the perfect solution for employees. Offering secure storage with plenty of space, OneDrive solves file space and management issues. What's more, sharing files and even working on the same file with coworkers have never been easier than ever when combined with Office apps.

Seamless collaboration

SharePoint is a platform that includes the whole toolkit you need to bring together all your members under a project. The ability to share resources and files, to present data in a cohesive way and to allow access from multiple devices, help you transform your business processes, boosting collaboration and productivity even more. Through a web-based platform, members of all teams in a company can have access to valuable information, resources, updates and even entertainment material in a cohesive way that allows real-time collaborative editing, encryption and much more. All in all, it is a must-have collaborative platform for any-sized business.

Communicate better

Some things just can't be solved over email. Or you might need to do a catch-up conference. Or you simply missed your coworkers. Whatever the need might be, Microsoft Teams solves all needs for communication through a secure and private environment. Think of it as a teamwork hub, where you can chat, meet, call, and collaborate, all in one place, securely, no matter where. With Microsoft teams you will discover a new way to skyrocket collaboration and achieve more, together, no matter the size of your team. It can even be tailored to your needs, by adding your favorite Microsoft and third-part services, or even custom apps, to further enhance working together!

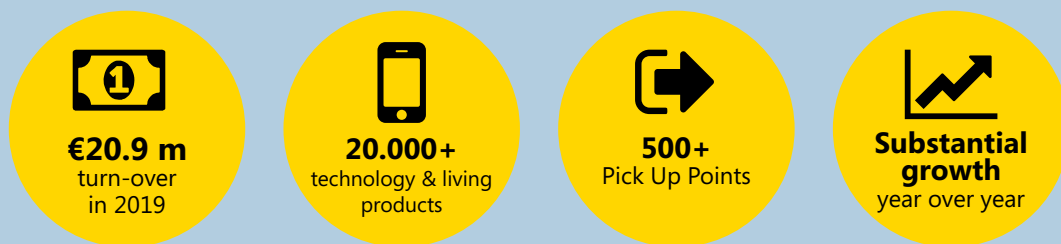

Meet you.gr

You.gr is the first choice of online shopping for the modern consumer in technology and everyday products, making e-shopping easier, simpler and more fun than ever. It has more than 20,000 products from 600 brands on its "electronic shelves", in 500 different categories, offering the best proposals on the market for home, office, business, family. But it is more than an online retailer, with a strong presence in B2B, offering its services to businesses of all sizes in greek market.

You.gr is among the largest and most reliable pure on line products stores in Greece.

To ensure the best possible support of the online shop's customers, the company keeps on investing in technological infrastructure, designs innovative services, such as alternative payment and delivery methods - at the point of choice, on the same day within Attica, at selected pick up points - and provides organized call center of support services, creating thereby a comprehensive, excellent user experience.

Today, you.gr is one of the most popular Greek e-shops and holds a 98% satisfaction rate with its customers who state that they would re-choose the online store for their future purchases.

you.gr

Contact us:

you.gr
Athens Offices
2A, Argyroupoleos str, 17676 Kallithea
tel. 0030 211 999 1900